A NEW DISCOVERY
IN THE VEGETABLE KINGDOM.

BY DOCT. BONAUD, of Marseilles. By means of this newly discovered Medicine, every kind of Sickness which afflicts the human body may be cured. By its perfect harmony with the animal mechanism of man, it becomes an efficacious remedy—an antidote against all kinds of accidents to which the body is subject.

The following is an explanation of its mode of operation. The active principle is the blood, which when it ceases to flow in its regular action causes sickness. As this medicine is a corrective of the blood, and as its tendency is to restore it always to its natural state, every disease is, therefore, controlled by its power. It contains no mineral ingredient; no poisonous substance, whatever, but is purely vegetable in its character. It is to be administered by doses according to the situation of the patient. Many have been restored to HEALTH by the application of it.

Dr Bonaud, the inventor, gives his patients advice gratis.

The unfortunate maladie known by the name of Spyhilis and all others of the same family, are infallibly cured by the purification of the blood.

Apply for information to Dr Bonaud, at his office Barrister's Hall, Court Square, near School street, Boston, at 9 o'clk a. m., and 4 p. m.

SPECIFIC COMPOSITION.

No mineral nor corrosive substance, neither any kind of irritating poison is contained in this remedy, but it is exclusively formed by a combination of simples obtained from the double influence of vegetable life and chemical action.

Persons pronounced incurable, or those who are given over by their physicians, by having recourse to Dr B will often find surprising benefit.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Boston.

About three months since my child, then three years and 1½ months old, was taken ill with a disease of pain in the stomach and light vomiting. In a day or two after she complained o pain in the head. I then applied to one of the first physicians in the city, and asked his advice. After attending the child three or four days, I was told by him that her complaint was dropsy in the head. After applying leeches, blistering, bathing, &c. and holding consultation with a celebrated physician, they pronounced her complaints incurable. At this time she had lost her sight and speech and continued in this situation for 17 days, during which time she appeared in great distress attended with spasms. Having understood, by a friend, that there was a gentleman in the city by the name of Auguste Bonaud, who had recently arrived from Marceilles, and who had at that place performed many remarkable cures; I was induced to apply to him. He immediately called to see the child. He pronounced her complaints such that a cure might be effected, and proceeded to administer medicines which in the course of a few days, restored her sight and speech, and removed the spasms; and she now appears to enjoy perfect health. J. FREDERICK GUSTUS.

We certify to the above, MARY RAND,
L. E. JEWETT,
PETER LAWRENCE.

For the good and comfort of my fellow creatures I shall inform them, that 7 years since I was afflicted with a nervous sickness, accompanied with liver complaint, which deprived me of sleep and appetite. At that time I called on Dr Bonoud, who administered to me his medicine, and caused a great improvement in my health.

Mrs HANNAH GODDARD, Roxbury.

For the comfort of mankind, I wish to publish the marvellous effects of Dr Bonaud's Vegetable Medicine.

A chronic inflamation in the chest deprived me of my health and put me in a painful and dangerous situation. Having understood of Dr Bonaud's numerous cures I called on him, and after taking three doses of his medicine, I recovered my health and natural strength.

JOHN WHITEHEAD, No 17 North Square.

My obligations to Dr Bonaud for the good which I have received from him, make me desirous of making them known to the public. I was very low from the ravages of an inflammation of the bowells, united with fever. At this time I called Dr Bonaud to my assistance, and three doses of his excellent medicine were sufficient to restore me to health, and enable me to recommence my occupations.

DAVID MEALVIN, No 3 Langdon Place

About 4 months ago, being on board the brig Diante, (master) coming from the East Indies, I was affected with the diarrhœ, accompanied with a daily fever; I had lost my appetite and my natural strength. At last I was so ill that I did not hope to be cured. I was in that bad state when I arrived in Boston; I had been a boarder of Mr Gustus, who told me that his daughter had been cured by Dr B. I called him instantly, put myself under his care and after ten doses of his medicine, took in 20 days, I was perfectly cured.

WILLIAM STOKMAR.

My three children were attacked at the same time very severely by the same disease, and I began to despair of their recovery, when I fortunately availed myself of the assistance of Dr Bonaud, who, having administered his medicine, in a short period they recovered entirely from their sickness.

J. GILLING, No 7 Langdon Place.

My daughter, aged 2½ years, was attacked by a violent fever which in a very short time reduced her to a very deplorable situation. In this extremity I called upon Dr Bonaud to succor her; and by his administration of his valuable remedies, she was in eight days restored from sickness to perfect health. MARY B. DOLLIVER, No 36 Salem st.

During the last four months I was very ill, and was attended by the best physicians of Philadelphia. After having submitted myself to their care without any improvement of my health, they ordered me to travel to Boston, where having heard of the good effects of Dr Bonaud's medicine, I called upon him, and after taking one dose of the above medicine, I was perfectly well and returned homed.

MR MARTIN, 36 Salem street.

Boston, Commercial street.

About 3 months ago my son was affected with inflammation of the chest, with several cancers on the mouth, when 10 days Dr Bonaud's treatment have been sufficient to procure him a perfect health.

Dr Bonaud—Sir: For the good of my fellow citizens, I wish to write you this; with the request that you will publish it.—The great obligation you have conferred on me because of the astonishing cure of my daughter, who was taken ill with a brain fever, and which your marvellous medicine cured in a short time, will always make me extremely grateful to you.

With respect,
MEHITABLE JOHNSON, No 4 Langdon Place.

Sir—The astonishing effects which your medicine has accomplished, cause me to write this to you as a testimonial of my gratitude. After taking three doses of your medicine, I was perfectly cured of a festule which I have had 3 months on the right breast.

I pray you to receive this in gratitude for the good I have received from you. ZORADA BALDREY.

Charlestown.

Our daughter, 9 months old, was taken sick with convulsions; after 4 days severe illness, and having but little hopes of her recovery in this state of illness, we saw Dr Bonaud's notice. We called on him—he gave her his medicine, and after 3 days of his attendance, she enjoys good health.

Boston.

Last Saturday, the 13th, my child, aged 5 years and 1 month old, was taken very suddenly with apoplexy, and inflammation through the system, and complained of a great deal of pain and distress. Saturday afternoon about 6 o'clock, she was taken in a violent fit, and was senseless for more than two hours. I then sent for Dr Bonaud, by the advice of my friends. She took his medicine, and in 6 days she was about the chamber. I would advise the public to patronise him with safety.

ERADICATOR

DR LESAGE'S SPECEFIQUE FOR SECRETES MALADIES, or 'Gonorrhea Eradicator.' The above remedy for the most distressing disease incident to the human race, originated from the enlightened mind of the eminent Le Sage, the promulgation and success of which throughout the kingdoms of France and Italy, has, of late years, added such high honors to the already highly honored name of the inventor. This composition unites safety with efficacy. And the venereal disease, whether in the form of 'Gonorrhea' or 'Gleet,' is eradicated by the use of it, with certainty and success, and the sufferer is restored to his usual health, without delay, or inconvenience. Tens of thousands of 'Parisians' will accede to the truth of these remarks, and it is confidently offered to those afflicted, as the best and surest remedy for the above mentioned loathsome disorder.—The secret has hitherto been confined to France and Italy.—It is now for the first time introduced by way of 'New Orleans' to the American public, and is sold, in this city, only at No. 43 Ann street, opposite Merchants' Row, near the Market, by E. THAYER, Jr., Druggist.

It is particularly recommended to sea-faring men as containing no portion of Mercury, whereby so many have been disabled from service on board ship.

The 'Eradicator' is found to give immediate relief to those afflicted with 'strictures,' 'whites,' and diseases of the prostrate gland.

TRANSPORTATION OF STORES.

Navy Commissioners' Office,
27th September, 1837.

PROPOSALS sealed and endorsed, will be received at this office until 3 o'clock P. M. of the 11th day of October next, for the transportation of provisions and stores to Mahon, to Rio de Janeiro, and to Valparaiso, (and to Lima, if required to proceed to the latter port by the senior naval officer or United States agent at Valparaiso.)

The shipment to Mahon will be made from the navy yard at Norfolk, in two vessels, and will be in quantity or bulk equal to about 5800 barrels; of which about 2000 are wet barrels, and the residue in dry hogsheads and barrels, or measurement goods.

The shipment to Rio de Janeiro will be made from the navy yard, Boston, and will be in quantity or bulk equal to about 2000 barrels; of which about 1700 are wet barrels, and the residue are dry hogsheads and barrels, or measurement goods.

The shipment to Valparaiso (and Lima, if required) will be made from the navy yard, New York, in two vessels, and will be in quantity or bulk equal to about 5600 barrels, of which about 2300 are wet barrels, and the residue are dry hogsheads and barrels, or measurement goods.

The vessels offered must be able to carry the full amount of freight destined for the places for which they are offered; the capacity in barrels of each vessel offered must be specified, and their names, and the place where they are then lying, and if they should prove insufficient to carry the full quantity for which they are offered, ten per centum to be deducted from the price, payable by the charter party, to cover the injury to the United States; but no freight to be paid beyond the amount due for articles which may be actually carried.

The rate or standing at the Insurance Offices must be stated, and no vessel will be accepted until satisfactory reports shall be received of their capacity and character, after surveys shall be made by order of the Commissioners of the Navy.

One vessel will be required to be at the navy yard, Norfolk, ready to load for Mahon by the 1st day of November next, to take on board from 2,500 to 3,000 barrels. Another vessel will also be required to be at the same yard, ready to take on board, by the 1st day of December next, the remainder of the stores for Mahon, (about 2,300 to 3,300 barrels.)

The vessel for Rio will be required to be at the navy yard, Boston, by the 1st day of November next, ready to take in cargo.

One vessel will be required to be at the navy yard, New York, ready to load for the Pacific by the first day of November next, taking on board from 2500 to 3000 barrels: another vessel, to take on board the remaining stores for the Pacific—from 2600 to 3100 barrels—must be at the navy yard, New York, ready to take in cargo by the 1st day of December next.

The offers must specify the price asked for all barrels round, without discrimination of wet or dry barrels, or measurement goods, five and a half cubic feet of measurement goods and thirty gallons to the gunge, of all casks not usually called barrels, whatever they may contain, to be considered as barrels.

No primage to be allowed, nor must any be asked in the proposals.

The freight money will be paid in the United States, by the respective navy agents near the navy yard where the shipments shall have been made, or at such other places as shall be directed, on certificates being exhibited to the said navy agents, respectively, of the safe delivery of the respective cargoes, agreeably to the bills of lading, signed by the United States navy storekeeper, or by the senior naval officer present at the places of delivery.

Fifteen lay days to be allowed, exclusive of Sundays and holidays at Mahon and Rio de Janeiro, and at each of the ports at Valparaiso and Lima, should both ports be used.

And the offers must specify the rate of demurrage to be demanded, in case of greater detention.

Fuller information as to the nature of the stores and kind of packages to be shipped, may be obtained upon application at this office, if deemed necessary. P&S o3

DR. KINGLEY'S PILLS.

THE most safe, effectual and economical remedy for diseases of the Human Constitution, that has ever been discovered.

These Pills are composed entirely of materials extracted from Medical Plants, and are warranted not to contain one particle of mercury, or any mineral substance. Dr Kingley, the inventor of this valuable medicine, from his knowledge of the Human System, derived from a long and extensive practice, has arrived to the conclusion, that the great and primary cause of most diseases is a derangement in the functions of the liver; or, in other words, an increased or diminished secretion of the Bile.

So well is this understood, that it is common for persons to say when they feel unwell, that they are bilious, meaning that they have too much bile in the stomach. On the other hand, when the flow of bile is diminished, the process of digestion is imperfectly performed, the patient becomes weak and emaciated, because nourishment contained in the food taken into the stomach is not properly extracted, and the food is ejected in a crude state. Dr Kingley is confident that the famous Hygeian Theory, so called, that "impurity of the blood is the cause of all diseases," is a great absurdity. Every one who reflects upon the subject a moment, will perceive that impurity of the blood is a secondary, not a primary complaint—the effect and not the cause of disease. When the functions of the liver are deranged, and the flow of bile increased, it is often taken up by the absorbent vessels and curried into the circulation, and becomes mingled with the blood as in Jaundice, when the patient shows it in his countenance. Now this impurity of the blood is caused by an increased flow of the bile, and to remedy it you must correct the secretion of the liver, and restore it to a healthy state.

Dr Kingley has spent much time in experimenting with different vegetable medicines, for diseases of the liver, and now offers his Universal Family Pills as the best, most convenient and cheapest medicine that can be prepared for general use; and in offering them to the public, he is actuated more by benevolent then pecuniary motives, as the price of the medicine will show.

Dr Kingley flatters himself that his long experimenting with vegetable medicines has enabled him to discover the true and only substitute answering all the purposes of mercurials, without any of their attendant evils. One great quality of his Family Pills is that they have the alterative principle combined with their cathartic or operative quality, so that they not only cleanse the stomach and bowels by purging, but they regulate the liver, change the morbid secretions, strengthen the digestive organs, purify the blood, invigorate the circulation, and give tone and energy to the nervous system.

They are mild and pleasant in their operation, and convey almost immediate conviction of their utility from the first dose. They can be taken with safety by persons of any age, and the feeble, the infirm, the nervous, the delicate, are strengthened by their operation, because they clear the system of bad humors, quiet nervous irritabilities and restless-ness, from whatever source, and invariably produce sound sleep.

The Family Pills are an invariable remedy for the jaundice, sick and nervous headache, dyspepsia, costiveness, sickness of the stomach, heartburn, all bilious complaints, fevers of all kinds, and if taken at the commencement will invariably check their progress, and save the patient from a protracted and dangerous sickness. They are invaluable in nervous and hypocondrical affections, loss of appetite, and all complaints to which females alone are subject. They operate as a mild and speedy purge, and are a safe and certain remedy for worms in children.

Since I have introduced my Universal Family Pills to the public I have received numerous certificates of their superior efficacy in curing diseases; also many letters from respectable physicians who have used them in their practice with the best success.

I might publish a small volume of certificates, but consider it unnecessary, as the medicine will recommend itself to all who will make trial of it. JOHN KINGLEY.

These Pills are put up in neat boxes of two sizes; the small size contains 25 pills, and the retail price is 25 cents, the large size contains 60 pills, the price is 50 cents.

☞ PALMER, JONES & BLAKE have been appointed agents for the above pills for the New England States. Druggists and others can be supplied wholesale and retail, upon application to them at No 44 Hanover st, Boston.

POETRY.

THE RECLUSE.

I thought it weary, I thought it sadness,
And writh'd beneath the cloister's bond;
They told me pleasure, and hope, and gladness,
Might be my own in the world beyond.

Along our aisles the dull light gleaming,
Cast round a pallid and sickly day,
While o'er yon mountains the sun was streaming,
And nature sparkled beneath the ray.

Oh! how I shudder'd when, slowly ringing,
The bell awaked us to prayer anew!
I heard without the wild birds singing,
And scenes of rapture my fancy drew.

When prone I lay at the marble altar,
There was no solace, no calm for me;
The tones that still from my lips would falter
Breathed but one prayer—that I were free!

Like a lonely tree in rooted sorrow,
That tosses wildly its boughs in air,
I pined in gloom that knows no morrow,
And learnt resistance from despair!

At length 'twas mine—that fatal vision,
That dimm'd the light of my lone retreat;
And then the fiends, in loud derision,
Cast the world's treasures at my feet.

They taught me envy, and pride, and folly,
Each varied feeling, each care I proved;
They crush'd my heart with melancholy,
And pressed all woes into one;—I loved!

I loved!—but where was the soft emotion
That once I fancied might be my own?
Its fears, its doubts, its wild devotion,
Its loss, its torture, were mine alone!

And friends!—like vapors that fade at morning,
Frail as the shadow by moonlight cast,
Light as the rainbow yon clouds adorning,
Lovely, but transient, the meteor past.

I found no truth—I knew no pleasure,
I sow'd affection and reap'd but pain;
I sought for peace, my slighted treasure,
And sigh in the cloister's cell again!

Poems. By Isaac C. Pray, Jr., Boston. Weeks, Jordan & Co., 1837. Mr Pray, if we mistake not, is a professed admirer of the "Lake School" of poets, and we suppose is willing to be considered as one of their followers. As the leaders of that school are the professed despisers of harmony of numbers in versification, we cannot tell how large a proportion of their defects to attribute to incapacity or wilful neglect. We must apply the same remark to Mr Pray. We are not disposed to deny that he is possessed of genius—but it must be obvious to every reader, that he is not an harmonious versifier. How much of the ruggedness of his verses we must attribute to a want of skill in the management of numbers, we cannot determine, since he is a professed disciple of the school of rugged versifiers. Now we are of opinion that harmony of numbers is all that distinguishes verse from prose; and that verse is removed from prose just in proportion as it is smooth and melodious. Poetry is a species of composition in which pleasing or poetical sentiments are delivered in verse. Hence prose, though filled with poetical sentiments, is not poetry, because it wants the essential attribute of versification; and verse, if it be destitute of poetical sentiments, is not poetry, because it wants the essential attribute of thought. In writing poetry the author's object ought to be to attain the utmost degree of harmony of numbers that is compatible with grammatical and idiomatic propriety of diction. Some writers have objected that it is better, occasionally, to admit a harsh number, than to weaken the force of an expression, or to destroy the beauty of a figure by smoothing it down into melody. Very well—let us admit this, but at the same time allow that if the writer cannot accomplish both of these objects at the same time, he is no poet and ought to confine himself to prose. If he is obliged to adopt the alternative of writing either weak verses or rough verses, if he cannot unite in his compositions both harmony and strength, he is wanting in genius; for the success of a few of our greatest poets has proved that the English language admits of the union of both these qualities. Harmony of versification has fallen, somewhat, into disrepute among critics, on account of what seems to us a very obvious reason. Immediately after the time of Dryden and Pope, hundreds of second and third rate poets, smitten with admiration of the charms of these great masters of harmony, overlooked and neglected every other quality of good poetry in their anxiety to attain this single quality. By this circumstance the school of Dryden and Pope was brought into disrepute, because the vast majority of their followers had attained their harmony without their strength and beauty of thought and expression; because they were gifted only with the ear of their masters, but were wanting in their genius. The faults which were so manifest in the disciples and imitators of these two great poets, were at length erroneously supposed to be the faults of the masters. If a writer is obliged to sacrifice harmony for the attainment of strength, or strength for the attainment of harmony, he is not a poet—for smooth verses without meaning are but nonsense, and rough verses, though full of sentiment, are nothing but prose.

Mr Pray may be a man of very respectable talents; but he will never obtain any considerable celebrity as a poet, while he remains a slave to the theory of the "Lake School"—a theory which has deluged the press with such vast quantities of rugged verse. There are many fine sentiments, however, in this little volume, which may redeem it from that fate which, we fear, on account of the faults of its diction, might otherwise attend it.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1837.

Correspondence of the Boston Morning Post.

Washington, Sept. 25, 1837.

Dear Greene.—The greatest lions at this place now, are the delegations from the tribes of Sioux and Fox Indians. The object of their mission is to effect an arrangement with the United States government, for the purchase of their lands east of the Mississippi. The Sioux delegation is composed of seven chiefs and nineteen braves, making twenty six as fine specimens of the original Indians as can any where be found. With their brawny limbs, entirely naked, (saving a slight calico shirt, leggins reaching to the knees, and a blanket thrown carelessly over their shoulders) with their painted faces and eagle feathers—indicating the numbers they have killed in battle—and with their panoply of tomahawks and war-belts, they remind one of the glowing descriptions of Cooper, and contrast strongly in their appearance with the fallen remnants of our eastern tribes.

I have attended the Councils which have been held between the delegation and the Secretary of War, and have derived no little pleasure from witnessing the ceremonies observed by the Indians on these occasions. The whole delegation was seated on a platform, in one of the Churches, raised like the platform at Harvard on Commencement Day. On this were likewise seated the Secretary of War, the Indian Agent, the Interpreter, and some privileged characters. Before anything was done in the way of business, the great Calumet,—a wooden pipe covered with the scale from porcupine quills, and about six feet in length—was lighted by the interpreter and presented first to Mr Poinsett. Saving and excepting a slight twinkle about the left eye, Joel drew his six whiffs with all commendable gravity, after which the Calumet was handed to the leading Chief, and by him passed round to the whole delegation. There was one thing about this smoking, which would be a study for the veterans at Flagg's. Not a particle of the smoke drawn in by the Indians escaped from their mouths, but it was all concentrated and came out in one stream from their nostrils. The Secretary, as Bill Mattock says, could n't come this. When the smoking had ceased, the Secretary, through the Interpreter, made them an offer of one million of dollars for their lands,—their demand, however, was sixteen hundred thousand dollars, and the meeting was broken up without coming to any conclusion. Yesterday another Council was held, when the same ceremonies with the Calumet took place as before. Mr Poinsett then stated to them, that the money he offered from the great Father, was not his property, but the property of the nation, and in case a larger sum than the one proposed should be offered, the big Council would refuse to sanction it, and they would go away empty-handed.

On this being interpreted, the whole twenty-six, as with one voice, gave an ejaculatory ugh!—The Secretary then proposed to place $200,000 in such a way that the interest should be a perpetual annuity for the support of schools and introduction of books among them, and explained to them the advantage of having the money placed in this manner as it could not then be expended at once, but would be preserved for the benefit of their children. The Secretary proposed also to give them $18,000 annually for twenty years—to give them a certain sum for the extinguishment of the debts of their tribe—to give them $170,000 for the purchase of agricultural implements, and $70,000 more for blankets, powder, and hunting weapons; in addition to this, he proposed $30,000 for mills to grind their grain, and sundry other sums for various objects. All of these sums together made up the amount of the original offer, and this way of dividing it into separate sums for specific objects, was done in order to give them a clearer idea of what the offer was.

The fact is, they can form no idea of what they are to receive for their lands, from the mere words "one million dollars." Numeration is something unknown to them, and they might, perhaps, jump at an offer of three hundred thousand dollars, when they would refuse one of double that amount, as children are sometimes seen to prefer a bright copper to a piece of silver of smaller size, though of ten-fold value.

As soon as the proposal was completed, the chiefs commenced deliberating among themselves for some minutes, during which time, one of the braves struck a light with his flint and steel, and began to smoke his tomahawk-pipe. The others soon followed suit, and while three or four were employing themselves in sage discussion and in grave debate, the others were regaling themselves by discussing the quality of their tobacco. At length one of the chiefs rose, and throwing his blanket upon his shoulder, commenced making a short speech in his native tongue, begging time for deliberation among themselves. Another then spoke with great vehemence, throwing his arms about, rattling his bells, and making some most furious ejaculations. The purport of his remarks was, that they had been crowded upon at their rooms, by visitors, and that they could get no time for council among themselves. It was directed that they should be kept in private, and no intrusion upon them be allowed, after which the council broke up to meet this morning.

At ten o'clock I went to the place, and finding the doors closed, called on one of the interpreters with whom I was acquainted, to inquire the cause of the postponement.—Here I found one of the chiefs and he told me, through the interpreter, that the young braves, after going to the theatre on the night before, had taken heavily of strong waters, and were now in their rooms with much weight on their heads. In plain English, they had got most decidedly fuddled the night before, and were sleeping off the headache consequent thereupon. This has caused a delay of one day, though it is probable that the terms proposed will be accepted. The chief told me that no one among them liked to come forward first, and speak in favor of the Secretary's offer, but that he was determined, at the next council, to take the lead, and agree to any measures which the Secretary might propose.

While here, the Indians live at the expense of government, in a style splendid to them—they are made great men of—invited to the theatre—and feathers and other things given them by the ladies. In consequence of this, there is something of a disposition, it is thought, among the young braves, to prolong the discussion, in order to lengthen their visit. To-morrow the matter will, probably, be settled. Yours. G. S.

Washington, Sept. 29, 1837.
Friday Night, 8 o'clock.

Pickens's motion to re-consider the vote of last night, on the Deposite Bill, has been discussed all day in the House, and at half past 6 o'clock the previous question was called by Mr Cambreleng, and the motion to reconsider was carried by a vote of 149 to 82. Mr Pickens then brought forward his amendment and demanded the previous question; but withdrew it at the instance of Doctor Haynes, of Georgia, who wished to propose an amendment. Mr Haynes subsequently declined offering his amendment; when Mr John Q. Adams took advantage of the time, and before Mr Pickens could renew his motion, offered an amendment, the substance of which was that the funds in the Deposite Banks be pledged to meet the payment of the fourth instalment on the 1st of January, 1839. This amendment assumed a very wide debate, and heaven only knows when it will end. As I do not see any earthly prospect of our getting out of the labyrinth of words in which we are involved, I deem it best to close my letter and resign myself to the hard fate that must await every man who is destined to be bored by listening to long speeches in Congress.

Yours, &c., CONSIDER STANDISH.

Bank Reform.—The substitution of bank paper for coin, in part, as a medium of exchange, was perhaps an improvement upon the old system of currency. Yet under the present circumstances of this country, the banking system has given rise to certain abuses; and a knowledge of the evils which have sprung from them has divided the reformers into two parties; the first consisting of those who would abolish the banking system altogether; the second consisting of those who would merely remedy its defects, without laying violent hands upon the banks themselves. The attempt of the first party, which is but a very small minority of the democratic party, if successful, would produce a distressing revolution, and throw our commercial affairs into a perfect state of chaos. The effect of the measures of the second party will depend entirely upon the amount of opposition which they encounter. If this opposition is sufficient to mix up with their reforming measures certain projects of interested men, serving to burden the new system of currency with the appendages of the old experiments, the good resulting from the reform may be obscured by the evil resulting from its appendages.

Praiseworthy Zeal.—The master and one of the crew of an Eastern coasting vessel, who arrived in the Kennebec river on the evening prior to the Maine election, travelled on foot from 10 o'clock in the evening until 3 o'clock the next morning, in the meantime crossing three ferries, in order to give in their votes for the democratic candidates. It is to such persevering votaries of democracy that we can look with steady confidence for the preservation of the country from the toils of the crafty and insidious enemies of liberal principles. While such hardy patriots live, modern whiggism must languish. Such men are proof against the specious allurements, or the audacious threatenings, of our factious opponents.

Sailors.—The old tars say there are no sailors in Tophet; for the Devil was standing one day at the outside of the gates, and got his tail through a knot hole. Thereupon the sailors caught hold of it, and began a "strong pull altogether." While in this dilemma, Satan ordered a large bowl of punch to be mixed, and then cried out "grog O! grog O!" Upon hearing this, all the sailors immediately quitted their hold of his tail, and rushed out of the gate to obtain their treat. Since that time sailors have never been admitted into Tophet—but have been kept in Davy Jones's locker.

Effect of dreams upon a Juryman.—In the trial of an action last week, at New York, the jury came into court with a sealed verdict in favor of the plaintiff. Upon its announcement, in the usual form, one of the jurors rose and stated to the court that he had subscribed to that verdict on the preceding evening, but having slept upon it, he had altered his mind! The court gave the fickle juror a stiff scolding and directed the jury to go out again, who in a short time again came in with the same verdict as first rendered.

Mr Editor—If your correspondent F. would define time according to his rule, he might be allowed to say that the day which will arrive to-morrow is called Tuesday—there is no future in its being called so, the future is that it will arrive.

He says, "the dead are they that have lived." Correct; but I see no similarity between that and "to-morrow is Tuesday." If "to-morrow is Tuesday," is right, then "the dead are they that are alive," is right, which would involve him in a plain contradiction—and so with his other similes; future generations are they that are born—the past is the time that is gone by—the future is the time that is not arrived. Here would be a similarity, and custom does not sanction anything like it.

The Town Elections in Connecticut took place yesterday.

☞ We have already expressed ourselves in favor of the project now before the City Council for introducing instruction in the elements of vocal music into our system of popular education. It passed through the School Committee, as we understand, without opposition, and now, upon the recommendation of that Board, has been submitted to a joint Committee of both branches of the City Government. The School Committee, in its present form, is as much a popular body as the Common Council. It is composed, besides the Mayor and President of the Common Council, of twenty-four members, two from each ward, coming directly from the people, and having a subject in charge from them which concerns them dearly, the great subject of public education. No case has ever occurred, in which, after this board, thus constituted, has deliberately and advisedly brought forward a measure, fraught, as they believe, with great interest, and connected with this subject, thus given them in charge, no such case has occurred in which the other branches of the City Government have, by refusing the appropriation needful to carry the plan into effect, thus stopped the wheels of action. Admitting that the power to do so may exist, it is a power, the exercise of which carries with it a heavy responsibility, and must, to satisfy the people, be grounded on good reasons. The Aldermen and Common Council are the guardians of the public purse. Be it so. This guardianship, however, is a delegated power. That power which in the towns is exercised by the people at large, in their primary assemblies, in their own right, is here, by the theory of the City Charter, delegated to the Aldermen and Common Council. If then the delegates of the people refuse the money for the education of the people, called for by the body to whom that subject by the people is confided, without good reasons, why then, perhaps, the people may demand of these delegates an account of stewardship at their hands. We do not wish to be understood as implying by these remarks that there is any probability that the project which has been commended to the City Council will be defeated. What we mean to say, is this: We wish to see, what as yet we have not seen, the argument in the Report to the School Committee answered. The Report has reasoned the subject up, now let it be reasoned down. We further say, that if the argument is unanswered, the members of the City Council need not fear the expense. Let not a scruple of dollars and cents stay such an experiment. Could the voice of old Faneuil be heard, we believe that there is not a man, so poor, but what he would willingly consent that a portion of his hard earnings should be taken, if thereby, by a wise provision of public instruction, gladness and song might come under his roof, and sit down by his fireside.

☞ We have been favored with a copy of "a Sermon, preached before the Religious Society worshipping at Jamaica Plain, on Sunday morning, 24th Sept. 1837—by George Whitney, its Junior Minister." The author discourses in a chaste and vigorous style, and with enlightened and just discrimination, upon the subject chosen as his theme.

Post Office Department.—Such has been the promptitude and ability with which Mr KENDALL has managed the complicated affairs of the Post Office Department, as nearly to disarm the opposition and in many instances even to extort praise from his bitterest political opponents. But although he has succeeded in relieving his Department from embarrassments, whilst at the same time he has greatly increased the mail facilities, he seems recently to have committed an offence not soon to be pardoned by the opposition. He has succeeded in collecting and paying out specie, at a time when even Mr Biddle's thirty million Bank could not find a sufficient quantity to redeem a ten dollar note; and thus has he furnished for circulation among the PEOPLE a considerable amount of the constitutional currency, at a time when the federalists had resolved that nothing but irredeemable bank rags should circulate among them. The declaration of this fact in his recent message, has stirred up the whole federal clan, who have attempted to invalidate his statement. Among the most gross, and at the same time weak and foolish of these attempts, is a statement going the rounds of the federal papers, that a merchant in New York received a draft on the Postmaster at White Plains, some twenty-five or thirty miles from the city, which he admits was promptly paid in specie, but which he pretends it cost him $7.93 to collect. This sum is made out by reckoning the services of the clerk who went for it at $3 a day for a day and a half, and every thing else in like proportion, and the items are made out and sent to the Department in the form of a charge, accompanied by a remark, that "should this account not be liquidated, it will stand on our books as an everlasting memento of the folly and ignorance of those who advocate an exclusive metalic currency." Now that individual might just as well have made the collection of his draft cost him $100 as $7 93: but we happen to know that it need not have cost him a single dollar to collect it.

We have had occasion to collect drafts on the Post Offices in this State for the last year, some of them more than a hundred miles off, in sums of from two dollars to one hundred dollars, and in no instance has it cost us one cent to collect them, and specie has at all times been paid when it was demanded. In truth the system adopted by the Postmaster General, is the safest, most economical, and most judicious that could be devised; the collection and disbursement being but one operation Every contractor collects his own pay, and this he is enabled to do without the least inconvenience or expense. At the end of a quarter, drafts are sent to the contractor on the Post Offices on his routes, and the mail carriers have nothing to do but present them and sign a receipt, the printed form of which is attached to the order, to receive their pay. So with the New York merchant; if he was not a contractor, instead of sending his clerk, he could have sent by the mail carrier, and received his specie at an expense of fifty cents or a dollar at the most—and when he had got it, his $66 was actually worth $6.66 more than the same nominal amount in bank notes. The federalists are welcome to all they can make out of this transaction, allowing it to be just as they state it: but they will find the Postmaster General is made of sterner stuff than to be driven from his ground by this sort of clamor.—N. H. Patriot.

State Convention.—The Democratic State Convention which assembled at Worcester last week, was probably one of the largest ever held in this Commonwealth. It embraced some of the best talent in the state, and its deliberations were marked with great harmony and unanimity. A good spirit prevailed among the members. The hundred guns which the whigs of Worcester fired while the convention was in session, only made the members more united and determined in the great political principles characterising the party to which they belong. The exultations of the whigs do not discourage the democracy. They rest firmly and securely in the truth and soundness of the principles they avow. The divisions and dissentions which have given to the whigs Rhode Island and an increase in Maine, do not prevail in Massachusetts.—The democracy of Massachusetts will rally with redoubled zeal to the support of democratic principles and her democratic candidates, MORTON and FOSTER. The panic which the whigs have raised, and the pressure which the bank suspensions have created, will not drive the democracy from the support of her principles or her candidates. These only make her more determined in the bank reform for which the friends of truth and principle have contended.—Hampden Whig.

Good Advice.—A federal editor, in an appeal to his patrons, concludes with giving them this most excellent advice:—

"We are convinced that a general law which should place such guards and restrictions upon the issuing of bills that the bill-holders could suffer no loss, and then allow all citizens who can give the requisite security to enter into banking, would be one of the most salutary checks upon the undue increase of banking capital that can be devised."—Poughkeepsie Telegraph.

EXTRACT from an Ordinance for the regulation of Horses and Carriages within the city of Boston:
"Be it further ordained, That every truck, cart, wagon and sled, belonging to any inhabitant of the city, shall be marked in at least two places, with the initials of the christian and the whole of the surname of the owner, or owners of the same, strongly and legibly, in paint, upon a plate of tin or iron, and also numbered in the same manner, which names and numbers shall be placed upon the outside of both shafts of every truck, and upon both sides of every cart, wagon and sled, and so be kept, as at all times to be clearly visible and discernable to all persons passing and repassing the streets during the day time, on either side of said cart, wagon, or sled."
The penalty, for violation of said Ordinance, is not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars
All owners are respectfully requested to notice the above regulation, as the Ordinance will be put in force as provided.

WHARVES FOR SALE OR TO LET.

THE BOSTON WHARF COMPANY having completed six Wharves, OFFER THE SAME FOR SALE OR ON A LEASE. The location of these Wharves is very desirable, being open to the sea and unobstructed by any bridge; they are commodious and accessible for vessels drawing from 12 to 16 feet of water.

The increase of population and trade in this section of the city and the adjacent country, offer favorable inducements for those who may wish to invest their funds permanently, as these locations cannot but improve, as the business of the city progresses and our Western communications are extended.

Any person desirous of purchasing or leasing said Wharves, may obtain all necessary information on application to the Agent, Capt WINSLOW, at the Wharves, or to HALL J. HOW. Tu&Fis6w aug18

SAMUEL S. GREEN.

SALT WATER BATHS.—The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public in general, that he has opened the Bath House on Craigie's Bridge, for warm gathing, and will continue open every day in the week during the season. AUGUSTUS GRANT.
m1

IMPROVEMENT ON DENTAL SURGERY.

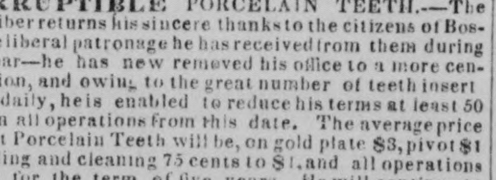

Dr B. T. PRESCOTT continues to perform all the necessary operations on the Teeth, both for their beauty and preservation.

Dr P. having obtained the latest and highly approved method of inserting the mineral or incorruptible Teeth on gold plate, so recently introduced in Paris, feels assured that he can not fail to give a general and acknowledged satisfaction to all who may favor him with their calls.

Persons requiring operations on the teeth will please call and see specimens at office, corner of Hanover and Portland street.

N. B. Dentists supplied with Mineral or Incorruptible Teeth, European and American, wholesale and retail, on the most reasonable terms. Orders from the country promptly answered. je27

REMOVAL.

INCORRUPTIBLE PORCELAIN TEETH.—The subscriber returns his sincere thanks to the citizens of Boston for the liberal patronage he has received from them during the last year—he has now removed his office to a more central situation, and owing to the great number of teeth inserted by him daily, he is enabled to reduce his terms at least 50 per cent on all operations from this date. The average price for the best Porcelain Teeth will be, on gold plate $3, pivot $1 to 1 50, filling and cleaning 75 cents to $1, and all operations warranted for the term of five years. He will continue to visit persons at their residence and complete any operations in two visits half an hour each. He has within the last three years instructed several Dentists in this city, who are now practising with great success.

CHARLES J. HOUPT, No 11 Winter street.

N. B. A complete set of 24 teeth to masticate with ease, for a person that has no teeth, will be ready for inspection in one month, and one hundred dollars will be paid on presentaton for a better specimen of workmanship. jan19

DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.—The copartnership hitherto existing under the firm of TABER & SMITH, is this day dissolved by mutual consent; J. Taber is authorised to settle the affairs of the late firm, and all persons indebted to Messrs Taber & Smith are requested to call at No 76 Washington street, and settle, that the books of the firm may be closed.

JOB TABER,
Boston, July 19, 1837. AMASA G. SMITH.

NOTICE.—The subscriber will continue in business at the stand of the late firm of Taber & Smith, No 76 Washington street, and solicits a continuance of public patronage; he will keep constantly on hand a good assortment of Carpetings, Rugs, Painted Floor Cloths, &c.

jy 19 JOB TABER.

CONSUMPTION

Is a wasting or decay of the whole body, from Ulcers, or Concretion of the Lungs, a collection of purulent matter in the cavity of the breast, a disease in which food cannot contribute to the support of the body.

THE ONLY SURE RESOURCE IS TO ASSIST NATURE,

for that purpose, DR. GORDAK, has invented two unrivalled VEGETABLE MEDICINES,

Jelly of Pomegranate

AND

ICELAND JELLY.

The Jelly of Pomegranate will promote expectorations of the matter which collects in the cavity of the breast, without irritating those delicate organs, and the Iceland Jelly will nourish the body, which food denies to patients laboring under the above disease.

The fact has been proved in the City of Boston and vicinity. There are a great many who were in the above condition, and have given a fair trial of the above named Medicines, they enjoy now comfortable health. About twenty who have been given over by eminent Physicians, have revived and are now doing well.

Directions, Causes, Symptoms and Regimen, you will receive with the Medicines.

DR. GORDAK,
